[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JULY 11,

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

French Affairs.

PARIS, July 10.—Thiers, hearing that the Pope intended to seek the hospitality of France, has addressed a letter to the Holy Father, assuring him of fitting welcome, but strongly dissuading him from the project. Such a proceeding, he says would offend Italy and create difficulties in France where it would be impossible to grant His Holiness privileges suitable to his exalted position.

Thiers promises the friendly offices of France as mediator between the Italian Government and the Holy See, with a view to the restoration of conciliatory relations between that kingdom and head of the church.

The Opinion de France denies that the manifesto of Count de Chambord has caused a rupture between the Legitimatists and Orleanists.

The French Government has paid to Switzerland two million francs, partial reimbursement of the expenses incurred in the maintenance of the French soldiers who took refuge on her soil. Switzerland restores to France the greater part of the war material brought across the frontier by the French army.

LONDON, July 10.—It is thought the French Legitimatists have dissolved, and that a majority will join the Republicans.

Gladstone explained that the delay in the arrival of Minister Schenck has postponed negotiations for a reduction of American postage. Negotiations will soon proceed.

EASTERN STATES.

The New Government Loan.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The report that the new Government loan has been withdrawn from the market is credited here in well informed quarters, from the fact that it is believed a proposition is about being consummated, looking to the absorption of the whole of the $500,000,000 of the 5 20 loan of 1862.

The Impending Riot in New York.

NEW YORK, July 10.—There is reason to believe that the dreaded riot, consequent on the Orange parade projected next Wednesday, will not take place, as Superintendent Kelso has this evening issued an order forbidding both the Orangemen parade, and the excursion of the ancient order of Hibernians, and also parties comprising largest companies which represent that a portion of the Irish Catholic element who express its determination to oppose the Orange display. The order concludes by instructing the police to disperse all bodies of men collecting on Wednesday next for the purpose of joining in target excursions or processions.

NEW YORK, July 10.—This evening before it was generally known that Superintendent Kelso had issued his order, there were largely attended meetings of the Order of Hibernians in this city, Brooklyn and Jersey City. Delegates of Irish Societies held a secret meeting in Hibernia Hall in this city. A large crowd collected outside discussing the parade and swearing they would break it up, no matter what the priests said. One member said there were 15,000 Irish Volunteers fully armed and ready to resist the Orange parade.

The Land Law and Town Sites.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Secretary of the Interior decides in the matter of application of Probate Judge of Jefferson county, Montana, to enter certain land as the town site of Springville, that a town with a less population than 100 can enter public lands under the act of March 2, 1867, thus reversing the ruling of the late Commissioner of the land office in this and similar cases.

U. S. Law Association.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The U. S. Law Association held its annual meeting to day. Many prominent lawyers from different States were in attendance. A large amount of important business was transacted.

SOUTH AMERICA AND WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, July 10.—Callao advices to the 28th ult. say that great excitement prevails over the coming Presidential election. Paz is the favorite.

An earthquake occurred at Surgnan.

The Bank of Peru had been robbed.

The steamer Tabequella from Liverpool had arrived. She encountered pirates in the Straits of Magellan.

HAVANA, July 9.—San Domingo advices to the 20th ult. give news of the return of Baez after defeating Cabral. The town of San Juan is entirely destroyed.

St. Thomas advices to the 5th state that the telegraph cable has been laid to Martinique.

Laguayre advices to the 23d of June say that the revolutionists have captured Bermeja, Capano and Campna. The revolutionists are in large force and the government garrisons are small but fighting desperately. Guzmano is still cruising on the coast. He is making operations on a grand scale against the revolutionists, and it is believed he will succeed.

Quesada and party remain at Curacoa. It is rumored the expedition to Cuba will not sail for some time.

MEXICO.

The Mexican Congress.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 2.—It is believed that the opposition to Juarez has a large majority in Congress.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Passed west at Ogden to day, Miss Q. Trefather and A. Labbe, of Portland; Rev. George W. Sloan, Steilacoom.

OHIO POLITICS.—A Washington dispatch of June 26th gives this:

The reports which are brought directly here concerning the political situation in Ohio are highly encouraging for the Republicans. The failure of the new departure Cox men in Cincinnati was complete, and they were not able to obtain a single delegate to the Convention, or to exercise any influence in making the platform, or in selecting the candidates. The clashing of personal interests in the Republican ranks has subsided with the nomination of Gen. Noyes, and the most complete harmony prevails. The enthusiasm is described as being almost equal to that when Brough ran against Vallandigham. The death of the latter gentleman has brought grief to the Democratic new departure. Those who were anxious for a different result are finding small comfort in talking about the rivalry for the United States Senatorship existing between Secretary Delano and Senator Sherman, but the truth is that neither of these gentlemen will interpose personal desires between the party and its success. A reporter of one of your contemporaries, who was sent out expressly to write up the split in the party, was disheartened by being unable to find it, and owned, privately, that Ohio politics were too much for him.

The Cincinnati Volksblatt, a German paper, says: The impure, and as regards political economy, unsound greenback theory of the the Western Democrats, the doubt and distrust of the people in the honest and well meant new departure Democrats, and the inciting, inflammatory and revolutionary harangues of Jeff. Davis, Robert Toombs, and other former rebel chiefs, will push the expectant and irresolute Republicans back within the old party paling. So long as the Democratic party stands up as a constant menace to the security and welfare of the country, and attempts indirectly to weaken the national credit, and so long as the leading Democrats of the South do not throw the Confederate flag into the lumber-room, but continue to hold it up before their followers as a symbol and prognostic of the ultimate independence of the South, so long will the people of the North hold together as brothers in the consciousness of common danger.

Of the inhabitants of New York City twenty are returned as natives of Oregon.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Communist Prisoners.

LONDON, July 11.—There is a struggle among Americans in Paris to secure possession of Communist prisoners as colonists. Some want them for Colorado, and others for Lower California and Arizona. The Government is puzzled how to decide.

EASTERN STATES.

The Outrage in New York.

NEW YORK, July 11.—There is much feeling and considerable surprise manifested in the city this morning at the order of Superintendent Kelso forbidding the parade of Orangemen to morrow. Orangemen are, of course, bitter and sullen, and their enemies feel themselves already masters of the situation. Great excitement prevailed in the city all day yesterday. The movements of Roman Catholic societies, the intentions of Orangemen, and preparations of the police and military were the subjects of interest. The Mayor, Supt. Kelso, Maj. Gen. Shaler and others in authority were in consultation during the day. The final result of their deliberations was embodied in the order issued by Supt. Kelso late last evening.

It appears the Mayor on the 6th instant wrote a communication to John J. Bond, Grand Master of the Orange Order, embodying the same sentiments as are expressed in Kelso's order, and suggesting the propriety of dispensing with the intended parade and picnic, but as no reply was received to the letter, and indications of a riot, in case of Orange demonstration, grew more and more threatening, the Mayor finally determined to prohibit the parade.

The excitement at Jersey City with regard to the Orange parade, and the riot which is expected to follow in its train, is intense. There is no doubt that the Orangemen of Jersey City are determined to parade at all hazards, and the greatest alarm exists in consequence among persons apprehensive for the safety of their persons and property. The Hibernians make no secret of their determination to attack the Orangemen in case the latter should parade. Their preparations for the expected fray are said to be very complete. The Shamrock society, comprised of about 400 members, met at Franklin Hall, on Warren street, last night. Before and subsequent to the meeting, excited groups assembled around the hall, discussing the situation and indulging in threats against the Orangemen. The Emmet Guard, numbering over 200 men, received orders to assemble at their Hall on Pavonia avenue to-night, and remain under arms until the following morning. The United Irishmen, it is also stated, are determined to turn out and make common cause with the Hibernians. They number some thousands. At some of the meetings wild statements were made that thousands of Orangemen were coming from Canada to participate in the parade, which added not a little to the excitement and hate of the Hibernians.

Routwell and Pleasanton.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A Washington special says that the reports of the past few days, that Pleasanton had resigned, and that his resignation had been accepted, are authoritatively denied. At the same time it is asserted that Secretary Boutwell before leaving for home gave some instructions to Deputy Commissioner Douglass, which indicated that he expected that gentleman to be Acting Commissioner before his return. There is much speculation as to the course of Pleasanton in case he should not be sustained by the President and Attorney General, some stating he will immediately resign, others that he will retain his position and square his conduct to the Secretary's orders.

Government Telegraphic Business.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Postmaster General has, in accordance with the Telegraph Act of 1866, fixed the rates of telegraphic communication between the several departments of Government and their officers and agents, which have priority over all other business. These new rates are exclusively confined to public business. One cent per word is named for each circuit of fifty miles or less. All words of a communication transmitted are to be counted, excepting the date and place at which such communication is filed. The rate for signal service messages and reports is fixed at two cents per word for each circuit or distance, irrespective of the length of the same. The rates took effect July 1st.

High Joint Commissioner Williams will leave Washington in a few days for Oregon.

The Postmaster General has determined to readvertise mail routes awarded to bidders who have failed to comply with their contracts.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Coroner's jury in the matter of killing "Iron Clad Jimmy" by officer Waldron, rendered a verdict of accidental death, it being shown that the shot was fired at random in the darkness as Waldron was climbing a fence with the revolver in his hand, and that Jimmy was armed and a dangerous man.

The Supervisors last night repealed all orders relating to Montgomery street.

The steamer Alexander which was to have sailed for Sitka yesterday was detained until to day for overland passengers.

CURRENT NOTES.

The present population of Newark 105,059, making it the thirteenth city in the United States. In enterprise in the way of municipal improvements, as well as in manufactures, it is among the first. A great many Germans are to be found among its citizens.

It is well said by the Pittsburg Chronicle that "while Jefferson Davis hugs the delusion that the great nation may yet be dismembered and shorn of its world-wide influence the nations of Europe, on fitting occasions, pay homage to its strength as they never did prior to 1865. Grocery loafers at the cross roads of Mississippi, pan over the 'Lost Cause' at a time when English statesmen court the good will of the United States as a matter of inestimable importance."

The Mobile Register says that the only difference between the advocates of the new departure and men of Alexander H. Stephens' views, is whether it is better to join battle with the Radicals in 1872, directly on the true and living issues between consolidation, centralism and empire on one side, and the sacred, sovereign right of local self-government by the people of the several States on the other, or to hold this in abeyance as a politic device to flank the Radicals out of power. The Register's judgment and taste all favor the attack in front, rather than to "attempt to Ku Klux the Radicals while pretending to indorse their amendment frauds."

A dispatch from Aurora [Ill.], July 11th, relates this shocking murder: A most dastardly murder was committed in DeKalb county, three miles east of Stubbone Grove village, last evening. Miss Joan McCormick, a beautiful young lady of 17, the eldest daughter of a wealthy farmer's widow, was deliberately shot and instantly killed while sitting at the supper table with her mother, two younger sisters and her brother, by an ignorant farm hand named Robert Reed the only pretext being that she refused to accompany him to a Fourth of July celebration. Reed fired two shots through the window from a double barrelled shot gun, the first shot entering the brain and killing her instantly, the second passing over the head of the sister sitting in range, and lodging in the ceiling of the room. Reed returned the gun to the neighbor from whom he had borrowed it, and fled. The excitement was so great that not a person for miles around slept that night. Forty men on horseback scoured the country, and messengers were dispatched to various railroad stations, some going to Aurora and Chicago to intercept his flight. Reed is about 23 years of age, medium height, spare build, full face, short red curly hair, and hang-dog look. He worked two years for the mother of the murdered young lady previous to this season. After the inquest was held it was learned that he told a boy that he was going to shoot her because she would not go with him. There is not a citizen of that town but what would assist in lynching him, if found.

The Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad —Letter from Hon. J. H. Slater, M. C.

LA GRANDE, June 12, 1871.

A. P. DENNISON—Sir: Your letter of the 4th inst. is now before me. In it you express a wish to have my views as to what ought to be done to secure the early completion of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad. I can best comply with your wish by adverting to the importance of the proposed road, and then to the instrumentalities by which we may reasonably expect to secure its early commencement and completion. Portland is now the commercial emporium of Oregon and must so remain, if her people and those identified with her interests seize and rightly use the advantages of her position.

Situated in latitude 45° 30', accessible at all times for ocean steamers, her geographical and commercial position is one of great importance. Directly east of her is the only doorway through the mountain barriers which lie parallel with the coast from British Columbia to San Diego. It may be fairly assumed that this passage way, cut through the Cascade range by the waters of Columbia, furnishes the most practicable railroad route from the Pacific ocean eastward into the great interior basin of the continent. And in this, as in all of Nature's works, there appears a wonderful harmony of design. The great Japan current, which sweeps up the southeast coast of Asia from the equatorial regions of the Pacific and Indian oceans, strikes across eastward, between the fortieth and sixtieth parallels of north latitude, reaching the western coast of North America in about latitude 48° north. I need not dwell upon the influence this current, in connection with the return trade winds of the same region, must have upon the eastward bound commerce of Asia, bearing it by irresistible and unchanging laws to that particular point of America where Nature has so auspiciously provided the means of its transit across the continent, awaiting only the energizing industry of man to be wrought into a great commercial highway.

But now, after this commercial current has been brought to our very door, it is carried southward from off the mouth of the Columbia river in latitude 46° 15' to 38°, from whence it must return again, in its inland course, to near the forty-second parallel at Salt Lake, going some sixteen hundred miles to get about eight hundred from the point where it deflected from its direct course.

Now, let us look eastward, and compare Portland with San Francisco, as to distance from commercial points in and east of the Mississippi valley, and particularly points embraced within lines drawn from Portland to New York on the north, and from San Francisco to Galveston on the south. By stretching a tape line upon the surface of any authentic map showing the convexity of the earth's surface, it will be at once perceived that Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and all points north and east of the last named place, are nearer to the mouth of the Columbia, on a direct line, than they are to San Francisco; that Memphis, Charleston, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., are as near to Portland as to San Francisco, and that New Orleans and Galveston can be reached from the mouth of the Columbia or the entrance of the Straits of Fuca on a much shorter line via Salt Lake than from San Francisco; and lastly, that the mouth of the Columbia river and the entrance to the Straits of Fuca are equi-distant from Chicago and all points north and east of there, even the far famed Duluth. These are facts of the most important signification, and demonstrate:

First—That as compared with San Francisco Portland is nearer to all points of the States east of the Rocky Mountains except Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Florida.

Second—That even the excepted States may be reached from the mouth of the Columbia river via Portland and Salt Lake on a much shorter line of travel than via San Francisco.

Third—That as compared with rival points north, Portland has nothing to lose.

Fourth—That there are seventeen States in the Mississippi valley and on the Atlantic sea board, having an aggregate population of at least 25,000,000, and a representation of 166 members in Congress, whose natural commercial connection with the Pacific should be at Portland, because it is the nearest point to ocean navigation, is easiest and most direct of access by transcontinental railway, and is most advantageously located as respects the trade winds and ocean currents of the North Pacific, which must for all time materially affect the direction of the inter-oceanic commerce of Asia and America.

This brings me to the consideration of the means and instrumentalities by which we can alone secure the early commencement and at no distant day the completion of this great undertaking, which will connect Portland with Salt Lake by railway a distance of about seven hundred miles. It is admitted that the capital needed for the work must to a great extent come from outside of Oregon, and the undertaking being national in its character should should receive Government aid in the way of a land subsidy.

It is a well established fact that capitalists will not invest their money except where returns directly or indirectly may be expected. Hence the importance of this route and its advantages must be made known to those sections and centers from whence capital is to be solicited or may be expected. The most effective way to accomplish this is, in my judgment, by correspondence. Furnish the press of Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and New York the facts and figures, and the appeal to the commercial bodies of these places, such as Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, and inducement to give the project their endorsement and support. This may be done through your own Board of Trade, calling upon other Boards to consider the matter, or more specially and effectively, by a commercial agent representing the commercial interests of Portland and Oregon, visiting these various bodies in person and laying before them the whole subject. That such an effort would secure the favorable action of the commercial bodies referred to, I have no doubt. This attained, it would at once be reflected upon the floor of Congress, and thus very materially assist in the passage through that body of a measure in our aid. The loose manner and reckless extravagance which has characterized some of the bills granting aid to railroad corporations which have passed Congress, has raised a formidable opposition to every measure which smacks of land monopoly in the least, and any bill proposing a grant of land to a railroad corporation is almost certain to be stigmatized as a "land grab."

That errors of past legislation should be avoided in future acts on this subject is very readily perceived, but to insist that because land monopolies have arisen out of the vicious legislation of the past, therefore no further aid ought to be given by the Government to other railroad enterprises, calculated and designed to open vast districts of the interior to settlement, and to open new and important channels for commerce, is both illogical and unreasonable.

It has long been an axiom that Government holds the public lands as trustee for the people. Cheap lands for the landless has long been the declared policy of the Government, and in carrying out this policy it has long since ceased to look to the sale of public lands as a source of public revenue. But it is difficult to discover the advantage of cheap lands, if to secure them the landless must transport all needed supplies in ox wagons or on pack mules from three hundred to five hundred miles, and from whence all surplus products must, in like manner, be transported a like distance to find a market. Lands at $2 50 per acre within twenty miles of a great commercial thoroughfare, would be vastly cheaper than at $1 25 per acre, or even as a gift under the disadvantage of being from three hundred to five hundred miles distant from navigation or railway connection.

There is not necessarily an antagonism between the policy of cheap lands and aiding railroad corporations by land grants, in building extensive lines of road through wild and unsettled portions of the public domain. All needed governmental aid may be conferred upon the company organized to build this road without creating, in any way whatever, a monopoly of lands or in any way abridging the right of actual settlers to acquire titles to the lands granted at prices within the reach of all. A grant of alternate sections for twenty miles upon either side of the road, to be sold only to actual settlers in quantities of not more than 160 acres at not more than $2.50 per acre, is all that is asked. Under such restrictions there can be no rapid rise of the lands granted after the company becomes entitled to them. Actual settlers can buy the granted lands upon the same terms as the remaining lands of the Government within the limits of the exterior lines of the grant. In this there is no monopoly; there is no holding down of the policy of cheap lands to the landless; there is no land-grabbing [illegible] to practiced. But there is aid given to an important enterprise, national in its [illegible] vast and extensive domain is open up to the settler where he may secure [illegible] lands from the Government or from the company, upon whose grant he may enter and settle at pleasure and secure a title upon the payment of the maximum price of $2.50 per acre.

There is a mutuality of benefits. The corporation is aided to commence, prosecute and complete its undertaking, and the actual settler is enabled to secure [illegible] lands otherwise beyond his reach and practically worthless; and last, though not least the interest of the Nation is subserved in opening a new and important channel of commerce between the Pacific and the great commercial centers of the Union.

I have thus briefly adverted to the importance of the proposed [illegible] and to Salt Lake and to some of the intermediate localities by and through which it must be made an accomplished fact. In [illegible] action is what is just now needed. [illegible] through the press, through [illegible] ions, by Boards of Trade and [illegible] of other agents. The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1871.

Another "Departure" Threatened.

Democrats who never said a word against Jeff. Davis during the war are now denouncing him in the most spiteful manner because he has chosen to declare anew his adhesion to those political principles which he and they have always alike believed in. What they fear is that his plain utterances will hurt their chances for electing a President next year; hence they scold, censure and condemn him most roundly. The Southern Democratic press does not like this sort of thing. Those journals retort angrily upon the Northern Democratic press for its stupidity and pusillanimity. The Mobile Register, a paper of great influence, tells its Northern brethren that the so-called "dead issues" which they blame Jeff. Davis for re-asserting, are really live pets which these same Northern Democrats in secret fondly cherish; and further, it tells them that they now pretend to renounce those principles "from a most pusillanimous motive, to-wit: because the 'Republicans have always saddled the Northern Democracy with the sins of secession' and called the late 'rebels' your (our) friends." "And," continues the Register, "to show that you are not our friends you are guilty of the unspeakable cowardice of joining in the Radical howl at the South's leaders and the South's principles and feelings."

This is plain speaking, but it is perfectly just. What follows is quite as plain. In answer to some of the Northern Democratic journals which have recently declared that because Jeff. Davis would not hold his tongue he ought to be hanged, the Register says:

> If you would hang Jeff. Davis now, how do we know that you will not hang him when, by the help of your votes, you get the power? In all this you flatter yourselves that you are acting the part of astute politicians. Your astuteness amounts to this, that you damn your character for fair dealing, upright deportment and gentlemanly feeling to placate a few scattering weak-kneed Republicans, and you risk the contempt, disgust and distrust of the Democratic party in its entire South.

This plain lecture concludes with the following paragraph:

> We must confess that we never expected to live to see a moral "departure" like this in any Democratic journal. And if this "departure" from decency, justice and good faith sweeps the North as the political "departure" seems to have done, the Democratic party will be wiped out between the Potomac and the Rio Grande. Southern Democrats will then and will have fair play and equality in the Democratic party, or they will have nothing to do with it. Make your platform choose your candidate, gorge all the spoils from like, but no air of superiority, no lofty looking down upon "rebels" and "rascals." Not the grace or syllable of it. Better quit it, gentlemen, or somebody's ambitious prospects may be hurt, and there may be still another "departure."

The tenor of discussion in the Southern Democratic press indicates pretty certainly that the Southern wing of that party will not be trifled with very far, and that in fact if the present movement among Northern Democrats is persisted in it will result in a hopeless dissolution of the party.

Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

The importance of the Portland, Dallesand Salt Lake Railroad is well set forth in a letter from the pen of Congressman Slater, which we publish to-day. It is easy to perceive that this road would be of incalculable advantage to Portland, and that, in fact, it would be more to assure this city of a great future than even the Northern Pacific, which may not come here unless it is forced to come for business. Mr. Slater shows that the first thing to be done is to get a land grant, and suggests the course to be pursued in order to accomplish that result. It will probably be quite difficult to obtain such a grant, owing to the increasing opposition to subsidies in every form; but Mr. Slater truly argues that it would be good policy to grant lands for enterprises like this, because, without railroads, the lands in the great interior are not likely ever to have much value. He argues upon the idea of "mutuality of benefits" between railway corporations and the people; all of which we commend as sensible and sound. Not much has been the outcry of late against land grants that the difficulty will be to make these arguments understood in Congress. We hope it can be done, for Oregon has not yet received her due proportion of railroad aid. It is absurd to talk about keeping the lands for the landless when the country is so undeveloped, that the lands without railroads possess no value and will not be occupied for years, and while many portions of the country are so far distant from markets and commerce that until railroads are built people cannot or do not want to reach them. Our delegation in Congress will, we trust, do what they can to further this important project.

A Gross Outrage.

A greater outrage has rarely been reported than that of the action of the authorities of New York City in refusing to allow a certain order or association of people to parade, because the proposed parade would be distasteful to another order or class. It makes the blood tingle with indignation to read of such an act as this. One body of people propose to have a quiet, peaceable parade and picnic; another body holding enmity toward them declare their intention to break up the parade and make all preparations for a bloody attack. And the authorities of the city, instead of protecting the rights of those who have prepared to assemble peaceably and march through the city, disturbing nobody, prohibit the meeting and the parade, and those who intended to raise a bloody riot carry their point and gain a victory. This is positively shameful. Are we now to understand that New York is a city which only one class or order of people can parade in? Since the city authorities are too cowardly or unjust to give all classes and bodies of people equal protection, the General Government should do it. It would be wholesome to place a few regiments of troops at New York, and then let these lawless people know that this parade, or any other quiet assemblage which any portion of the people might choose to take a part in, would be fully protected. Suppose the parties in this case were changed and those who have prevented the parade of the Orangemen were the ones prohibited from carrying out a similar programme,—what would they think of it?

The San Francisco Elevator, organ of the colored people of California, says that there are between 2,000 and 3,000 colored voters in that State who, to a man, will vote the Republican ticket. These votes may prove an important addition to the Republican strength of the State. The San Francisco Monitor, whose editor is the Democratic nominee for State Printer, complains that "the Germans, who until recently have been in the habit of voting the Democratic ticket, now threaten to bolt en masse and swell the ranks of the Republicans." The reasons given for their action are that they have no confidence in Gov. Haight and dislike the corrupt administration of the Democratic party in the State: and also that they remember the recent war in Europe and are reluctant to affiliate with the party that sympathized with their enemies.

A very general desire, we hear, is felt among our citizens to have the Holly system of water supply and fire protection fully examined, with a view to its introduction here, if, after investigation, it should seem desirable. We hope the Common Council will take hold of this water question at once. We do not insist on any particular plan; we only urge an examination of all the schemes presented, so that the city may be able to act intelligently and obtain cheaper and better water than is now afforded.

The Herald announces that Senator Kelly and Congressman Slater are to be numbered with the "departed." All Democrats in Oregon will be after the next election. But it will not please the ancient hardshells of Oregon to learn that their Senator and Representative in Congress, in the hope of getting rid of the obloquy of their principles and thus preventing future defeats have decided to throw their principles overboard.

The Walla Walla Statesman, which has been making wry faces over the "new departure" and declaring that it was very nasty to swallow,—quite as bad as castor oil,—in its last issue shows signs of a purpose to take the dose and say no more about it. But we can't help sympathizing with one who is compelled to accept principles so nasty as the Statesman in former issues has assured its readers these resolutions are.

OREGON.

The Holly machinery will be attached to the water works at Salem, by means of which water will be supplied to quench fires in any part of the city.

The Jacksonville Times urges that as a precaution against fires in that town a reservoir be constructed on the hill above the place and pipes connecting with it laid through the principal streets. At present Jacksonville is without protection against fire.

The Ensign of July 1st gives this for the June transactions of the Roseburg Land Office: Sold, 11,118 acres; homesteads entered, 3,000 acres; located, 640 acres; land warrants, 320 acres—total, 15,175 acres. There were 36 pre emptions filed and 8 homestead certificates issued.

Rev. I. D. Driver in an oration at Jacksonville on the Fourth delivered these sentiments in regard to the Chinese: The Chinaman, in a business point of view, is a labor-saving machine, and entering into the lower degrees relieves the superior mind and sends it on a mission of greater importance. How clearly this is seen in our mines. When failing to sustain a higher order of intelligence, several Chinamen may be seen laboring and fostering as a source of wealth that from which a single white man failed to torture a meagre subsistence. In this, nature still obeys the mandate of its great author, when the loaves and fishes multiplied under his blessing, "gather up the fragments that nothing be wasted." No fears need be entertained in bringing our institutions in contact with China or any other nation of the earth. Nothing is able to injure America but America itself; our own power is the only instrument yet formed that is capable of destroying us; and of this let us beware.

How a Political Bargain is Said to Have Been Made Twenty Years Ago.

[From the Indianapolis Journal, June 26.]

In the Winter of 1848-9 the Whigs and Democrats were almost equally divided in the Ohio Legislature. Neither party had a working majority in the popular branch, and two Free-soilers, Townsend and Morse, from the Western Reserve, held the balance of power. The election in Hamilton county was close, owing to some alleged irregularity, Pugh (George F.) and Pierce, Democrats, contested the seats of Runyon and Spencer, who were Whigs, and held certificates of election. The Whigs stood by the Whigs, and the Democrats were solid for the contestants. How would the Free-soilers vote? How and by whom could they be brought around to see the legal question involved in the contest from the Democratic stand point? These questions were freely canvassed in the Democratic caucus. A prominent Free-soil lawyer called in consultation, and, though up to that time he had not been counted a politician, he then and there embarked upon a political career with his eyes fixed upon the Presidency of the United States. If we are correctly informed, he wrote a contract between the Democrats and the Free-soilers, by which it was stipulated that Townsend and Morse should vote with the Democrats to unseat Runyon and Spencer, and admit Pugh and Pierce to their seats, in consideration of which the Democrats of both branches of the Legislature agreed to unite with Townsend and Morse, the two Free-soilers, and elect the thimble-rigging lawyer—Salmon P. Chase—to the Senate of the United States. We are informed that this contract, in the hand writing of the present Chief Justice of the United States, is still in existence, and in the possession of a citizen of Cleveland. The bargain was carried out by both parties in good (?) faith, and Mr. Chase went to the Senate, where, as the colleague of Mr. Seward, he bore a distinguished part in the great anti-slavery debates of that time.

WORKING DURING SLEEP.—Those cases in which the brain is hard at work during sleep, instead of being totally oblivious of everything, may be called either dreaming or somnambulism, according to the mode in which the activity displays itself. Many of them are full of interest. Some men have done really hard mental work while asleep. Condorcet finished a train of calculations in his sleep which had much puzzled him during the day. In 1856 a collegian noticed the peculiarities of a fellow-student, who was rather stupid than otherwise during his walking hours, but who got through some excellent work in geometry and algebra, during sleep. Condillac and Franklin both worked correctly during some of their sleeping hours.

The work done partakes in many cases more of the nature of imaginative composition than of scientific calculation. Thus, a stanza of excellent verse is in print, which Sir John Herschel is said to have composed while asleep, and to have recollected when he awoke. Goethe often set down on paper, during the day, thoughts and ideas which had presented themselves to him during sleep on the preceding night. A gentleman one night dreamed that he was playing an entirely new game of cards with three friends; when he awoke the structure and rules of the new game, as created in the dream, came on by one into his memory, and he found them so ingenious that he afterward frequently played the game. Coleridge is said to have composed his fragment of "Kubla Khan" during sleep. He had one evening been reading Purchas' Pilgrim; some of the romantic incidents struck his fancy; he went to sleep, and his brain composed "Kubla Khan." When he awoke in the morning, he wrote out what his mind had invented in sleep, until interrupted by a visitor, with whom he conversed for an hour on business matters; but, alas! he could never again recall the thread of the story, and thus "Kubla Khan" remains a fragment. Dr. Good mentions the case of a gentleman who in his sleep composed an ode in six stanzas, and set it to music. Tartini, the celebrated Italian violinist, one night dreamed that the devil appeared to him, challenged him to a trial of skill on the fiddle, and played a piece wonderful for its beauty and difficulty; when Tartini woke, he could not remember the exact notes, but he could produce the general character of the music, which he did in a composition ever since known as the "Devil's Sonata." Lord Thurlow, when a youth at college, found himself, one evening, unable to finish a piece of Latin composition which he had undertaken; he went to bed full of the subject, fell asleep, finished his Latin in his sleep, remembered it next morning, and was complimented on the felicitous form which it presented.—All the Year Round.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES.

Manly Proclamation by the Governor of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., July 11.—In reference to the Orangemen's procession, Theodore F. Randolphe, Governor of New Jersey, to day issued a proclamation announcing to the people that the Constitution of the State of New Jersey enumerates, among other rights and privileges, that the people have the right to assemble freely together, and enjoining upon the people to assist in preserving peace and good order, and warning all persons from other States who seek by acts of provocation to interrupt the peaceful assembling of the inhabitants of this State, and that such offenses against the peace and good order of our commonwealth will be vigorously and zealously punished by our authorities.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Twenty-five farm hands have been engaged in Scotland by a firm of San Francisco to come to California to work on contract with farmers for four years at a stipulated price, employers finding it impossible to obtain good reliable hands here who are willing to leave the city.

Henry Wiemer, of Vallejo, who was shot at a christening in Clementina street two weeks ago, and supposed mortally wounded, has recovered sufficiently to appear at Court on a charge of assault to murder, preferred this evening against his assailant, Thos. Farren.

Albert Skopensky, the Polish tailor who was recently discharged from the Insane Asylum, stabbed himself in the left lung, neck and abdomen to day, and was taken to the county hospital in a dying condition.

The old friends and associates of David C. Broderick will meet in the Fifteenth District court room on Thursday evening to form an organization to be called the "Old Guards," for the coming political campaign.

The report started at Carson that Col. Von Schmidt has abandoned his Lake Tahoe project entirely, is untrue. He is preparing his instruments and getting his corps of assistants ready for commencement of work upon the tunnel through the Sierra, the initial points of which are already located. He will leave here for that purpose with his party on Saturday next. The injunction on the work on the dam of the Truckee will come up before the County Court of Placer county, at Auburn, on the first Monday in August, and he has every assurance that it will be set aside. The Colonel certainly means business as will be speedily demonstrated.

An indignant and pointed remonstrance has been sent to Washington by prominent parties here against the seizure of Richard & Co's and other stores on the Gila river, Arizona, by the Indian Agent on the claim that they were not licensed Indian traders. The store of Richard & Co. it is claimed is 15 miles from the reservation. When the seizure was made the goods were piled into wagons and carried off to the Indian Agent's premises for confiscation, as was stated, and even the money in the drawer was taken and carried off without even a receipt being given. The proprietors of another store which was attempted to be confiscated in like manner are informed that their agent having notice of the coming of the party, armed his friends and defied the Agent to attack him, and held possession of the premises until his opponents retired.

Mrs. Stanton had a full audience at her first lecture on the Pacific coast, this evening.

A crowd has been in attendance at the Street Superintendent's office all day a ring employment under an order of the Board of Supervisors for cleaning the streets at $2 50 per day.

There is a strong feeling here on the subject of the parade to morrow by the Orangemen in New York, and some talk of getting up a demonstration in San Francisco. It is not probable, however that one will be made.

The price of feed has a depressing effect on the live stock market. Horses offered at auction to-day were knocked down at very low figures, indeed, being in fact almost unsaleable.

VALLEJO, July 11.—This evening at 8 o'clock, a meeting of the laboring men of Vallejo, remonstrating against the reduction of wages at Mare Island, was called to order. The meeting was addressed by numerous of our best citizens, who denounced the reduction.

NEVADA.

EUREKA, July 11.—A man named Hogan was stabbed this evening by another man named McVesters. Hogan is in a very critical condition. McVesters was arrested.

THE TERRITORIES.

It is asserted that Walla Walla valley has gained five hundred voters this year.

A panorama representing the "Rivers of the West" is on exhibition at Olympia.

Large tracts of land about Gray's Harbor have recently been purchased by parties in Portland.

Gold dust is coming in quite plentifully at Walla Walla. Two houses at that place have shipped to Portland 136,516 pounds of wool.

It is said that up in Idaho the ravages of an insect, called the cicada septemdecim, is terrible. The insect does it with his mandibulum. This is very sad information.

Thurston county, W. T., has donated her Court House and grounds for three years to aid in the establishment of a female seminary. Whether they propose to do without a Court House for the next three years at Olympia is not stated.

The Territorial Dispatch of Seattle has the following: It is related that a gentleman who recently made a tour around the world, says that in examining a railway in India, he asked where the ties came from, and was answered "from Puget Sound." At Alexandria, in Egypt, while admiring some singularly perfect spars among the shipping, he asked where they grew, and was told "at Puget Sound." Afterward in a seaport of China he asked the source of certain timbers that a friend was using in the construction of wharves, and the same answer came.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—Ye Red Men came out last evening in procession clothed in regalia, with a band of music, and carrying cer- tain unpronounceable-looking batons, etc The turnout, while a respectable one, was for the purpose of witnessing the officers of the Wigwam for the cur- rent term The members first went from their hall to the Washington Guard's Armory, where they had some private ceremonies Afterward they marched through Stark, Front, First and Ankeny streets, to their hall in Parrish's block, where the ceremonies of installation took place, conducted by Alex Campbell, Deputy Great Sachem The following is a list of the officers elected E Bybee, S; W S Stevens, S S, C M Merrin, J S, C S Mills, P, H T Hudson, C of R, J Pat Smith, K of W, Alex Campbell, J W J F Hankins, 2d S, John Mastern, G of W, Wm. Zimmerman, G of F, E J Jeffrey, Sentinel, J Fuller, 2d W, Richard Holmes, 1st Sachem, W Johnston, 2d S.

RAILROAD WORK.—Two boarding camps for laborers on the Oregon Central Railroad left Port- land yesterday morning. One of these camps is at Rock Creek and the other at Tualatin. Bridge builders are at work upon bridge No. 3, and the graders will have their work done two miles beyond the city limits to- day. A portion of the cargo of iron brought by the steamer Amelia has been steamed up to the Fourth street bridge, and the track will begin laying for the present, in order that materials for use on the road may be forwarded expedi- tiously. The piling across Couch's to the depot grounds is about completed The first large loco- motive for this road will reach here, it is expect- ed by the last of this month.

THE TRIAL OF WARD.—The taking of testimo- ny in this case occupied the time of the Court all day, till about half past 4 o'clock. The argument by counsel—Gibbs and Dolph for the de- fendant, and Caples and Moreland for the defence— occupied the time till about 10 o'clock P M when the Judge, after a brief charge, submitted the case to the jury at half past 10 o'clock, and at last intelligence the jury was still out.

LOST TO SIGHT BUT TO MEMORY DEAR.—A few or two since, a wagon which was being car- ried over to the railroad depot, for shipment up country, ran off the boat into the river and was lost. We are not prepared to state whether it was the "Rain" or a celebrated "Mitchell," but perhaps it don't make much difference, so long as it remains down among the mud worms.

BUSINESS TO SAIL.—The N. P. T. Co.'s steamer John L Stephens will sail for San Fran- cisco at seven o'clock this afternoon.

The same company's steamship California will sail for Victoria and Puget Sound at seven o'clock p m next Saturday.

The opposition steamship Constantine will sail for San Francisco at seven P M Thursday.

ARREST.—The young man, John Williams, who broke in or three times, lately, attempted self- murder, was sent yesterday morning to the Asylum at East Portland as insane. He is about 20 years old, without relatives or friends here, so far as can be learned. He came from California

IMMIGRANT.—A party of thirty six people from Missouri arrived by the last steamer. They have come here to stay. Among them are some wealthy farmers family, who purchased land in this county last season. This arrival is said to be in part to the correspondence of Mr Holmes, of this city.

Personal News.—The Metamothon, from San Francisco, arrived last evening.

Schr W. Wood, 20 days from Honolulu, is in this morning She has a cargo of 400 tons, con- signed to Corbett & Macleay, consisting of molas- ses, rice and sugar, mostly of the latter.

SHEARED SHEEP.—We notice the arrival per John L. Stephens of eight pure bred Leicester sheep, consigned by M J. Cameron direct from the farm. These sheep are the direct progeny of Lord Fitz Hall's breed in Britain. They may become of the Union stables on Second street

STRAY YET FOUND.—Mr. Ed. Chambreau's little boy is still lost, and not a trace of him has yet been found. Nobody can be found who saw him after he was left at the corner of the Plaza on Main Act, about half past 5 P. M., last Friday.

DROWNED.—The body found in the river at the foot of Taylor street, on Tuesday, was identi- fied as a man named W. R. Scranton as the body of Mr Wilson, not long since in the employ of the Central Pacific Railroad

AN EXCURSION.—Capt W H. Troup, of the steamer Vancouver, talks of making a pleasure ex- cursion to Vancouver next Sunday. The Captain is hailed in these waters as an excursionist.

PORTLAND LIBRARY.—A new volume of poems entitled "Tears and Victory," by Belle W. Baker, has been placed in the Portland Library.

PETIT JURY.—The trial jury of the United States District Court is ordered to be in attend- ance at the court, this morning.

PERSONAL.

The dispatches announce that High Joint Com- missioner Williams will in a few days start for Alaska.

Hon John R. Brunot, Chairman, and Thos. K. Cree, Secretary of the Indian Commission, arrived by the steamer John L Stephens, and will visit the Oregon Indian agencies during a stay of about a month

Mr Alfred Selwyn, Jas Richardson, Benj Baltzley and John Hammond, civil engineers from Nova Scotia, arrived by the Stephens, en route to Brit- ish Columbia, where they are going to survey a line for the Dominion overland railroad.

Hon. C. W. Dannals, Past Grand Master of Cal- ifornia I. O. O. F., arrived here by the Stephens, for the purpose of establishing himself in busi- ness. He is agent for the Widows' and Orphans' Life Insurance and will open an office in this city.

Among the arrivals by the Constantine, were Hon. Samuel Miller of the U S Supreme Court, Con- gressman Maynard and several other distinguished gentlemen from various parts of the Eastern States.

THE COURTS.

TUESDAY, July 11, 1871.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—U. S vs William Squires, plea of "Not Guilty," cause set for trial on Friday next. Cartwright for U S., Strong for defendant

U S. vs J L. Cummings, plea of "Not Guilty."

It seems unnecessary to state, in view of the mass of testimony as to its effects in dyspep- sia, that it is a permanent cure for that terrible but too general complaint.

The numerous "Bitters," under various names, which mercenary dealers endeavor to substitute for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, should be avoided, for their own sakes, by the sick and the public at large. Hostetter's Bitters are procurable in bottles only, and never sold in bulk.

Chinese Idioms.

[From the San Francisco correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.]

It is curious to note the curious ways in which the Chinese, having only nouns and verbs, and a few participles with which to glue them together, manage to construct all those ten parts of speech treated of by terrible old Lindley Murray. In the first place beside the original stock of nouns proper, there are others formed of verbs. "Indigestion," for instance (to translate literally, which I shall do whenever possible), is "the not-can-dissolve." The verb "hing" means "to walk, to do;" "wei," nearly the same, hence, "hing wei" means "actions." A noun may be formed of a verb and a noun, as "duck-keeper," which is in Chinese "one peep-duck man;" "barber," which is "shave head teacher." There are innumerable compound nouns, for the Chinese is even more prolific than the Greek. "Muchness-fewness" is "quantity;" "not-greatness-not-smallness" is "average." There are a great many awkward combinations of nouns used in default of adjectives, as "thank-thank" for "many thanks," "brother-brother," for "oldest brother," "day-head" for "sun." The Chinaman has nearly a score of little words which may be called classifiers, which he attaches to certain nouns to make them more specific, but which we can seldom translate. We say a "piece of land," like the Chinese, but we consider it unnecessary to say, as they continually do, "one piece house," "one piece man," etc. They use these classifiers because in Chinese the noun is always plural unless otherwise distinguished. And they are not content by designating the singular by "one," but often employ, instead of the simple phrase "a pig," an expression so roundabout as this: "One piece pig, son." Of pronouns the Chinese have, if anything, an excess. They are required by the Oriental style of servility and punctiliousness of address. Thus, while we have no resource but to "thee" and "thou," an inferior person, and the editorial and royal "we," the Chinaman has an almost unlimited range of pronouns adapted to every possible grade of social rank. With a single pronoun he can address another as "Your highness," or "Your nastiness," and do it with perfect politeness. With our clumsy language we have to resort to direct and vulgar abuse, profane cursing and swearing and ugly epithets, to make a man understand how we rate him. As the Chinese verbs have neither moods nor tenses, the people have to employ many cumbrous circumlocutions. Thus, the Chinaman says: "I finish walk," or "I pass over walk," for "I walked." This cumbersome expression is used: "I see pass finish him" for "I have seen him." A relative or principal cause is found in this manner: "The-I-see-pass-finish man," for "the man whom I saw." Verbs may be employed in composition for adverbs, as "done-day" for "yesterday." Nouns may also be used for adverbs, as "They fight day by day in China;" for they are always fighting in China "This way much," for "So much." The absolute inseparableness of rice from the Chinaman's existence is shown in several phrases. "To cook" is literally, "to make rice," and "to dine" is to "eat rice." The exactness, diffusiveness, and Oriental tendency to poetical and tropical statement are everywhere woven into the very warp of the language. This is indicated, among other things, by the fact that every noun in itself is plural and includes all there is in the world of that sort of thing, unless it is limited by "one," or "one piece, or something of that kind. For the phrase "to collect customs," there is no more precise and business-like expression than to "reap water," while "to smuggle" is to "jump water," or to "jump into water." "Literary works" is "word children;" "murderer" is "red-hand;" "the whole world" is "the nine islands," or "the four seas," "the Government" is "the six rooms."

Flaxseed Oil Mills.

[From the Salem Statesman.]

Very few of our citizens are aware of the exacting order and perfect system with which this large establishment is carried on. Through the courtesy of Hon. G. P. Holman, Secretary of the Company, we were conducted through the various warehouses, depots, etc., and can only express the gratification received by giving the readers of the Statesman a hasty and imperfect sketch of our visit. First, our attention was called to the seed house, were the seed is received, directly from the cars, and by means of an elevator carried to large bins in the upper story; from these it is taken to the upper room of the mill a distance of 140 feet) by conveyors and run through screens and rollers, transforming the seed into a sort of coarse meal. This meal then, by means of a shute, is sent the second floor of the building and put into the mill hoppers, two immense upright mill stones, making upwards of 5,000 each, and ground into flour; then to the steamer, where it receives a proper time, when it is taken out and put into small bags made of the hair of the angora goat, these bags are laid between mats and placed in a powerful 4-box hydraulic press capable of compressing equal to five tons in weight. This machine, as a piece of workmanship, compactness, etc., is the finest on the coast, and was manufactured expressly for this company. By means of this press the meal is forced out of the seed and runs into the basement, leaving only the substance known as oil cake—this cake is ground into meal. From the basement, through pipes it is carried into the boiling house and put in large kettle and then put in tanks, when cooled, is ready to be canned for market. From the house where it is got ready for market leads to the shipping warehouse, where it is put in packages, transferred to the steamer and got ready for market. The power used in this establishment is furnished by Leffel's 48-inch Turbine wheels. There are five separate buildings. The mill proper, the boiling house, the receiving and shipping warehouses, the cooper's shop, where the barrels are made from the finest kind of Columbia river spruce. A new warehouse for storing is to be commenced in a few days. The capacity of the mill is 100,000 gallons per annum. The new Superintendent is Mr. James Penny, lately from Chicago, a man of large experience in the business. As soon as the new crop commences coming in the work will be carried on night and day. We regret our limited space prevents us from giving a more extended account of this large concern.

Industry in California.

The Alta California publishes a mass of industrial statistics relating to California, and has these observations upon them:

The wool growers are this year very prosperous. Those who have inspected our statistical tables in this regard will have observed that the amount of sales of Spring clips this year has been 12,564,334 lbs., or 20 per cent. more than last year, at prices 50 per cent. higher, which have given a value of $3,605,330, or double the sales of last year; of this immense sale 10,847,958 lbs. has gone East by rail direct to the factories, for whose use the agents came here to compete in its purchase. The local wool factories have taken 1,800,000 lbs. less than usual because of its high price, making the whole crop 14,364,334 lbs. Notwithstanding the drought, the wool interest has thus far been very prosperous, although some extra expense has been incurred to send sheep over the mountains for feed. The mining interest also, in spite of some drawbacks, has been more effective. Our tables inform us that although the amount of gold and silver bullion received in this city has been less, yet with the considerable larger quantities sent from the mines East on San Francisco account, the production in the aggregate has been greater, notwithstanding that some of the most productive gold mines have been idle for various causes. The wheat crop has filled out our estimate of its amount last year. We then stated it at 4,000,000 sacks for export. Our tables show that 4,159,173 sacks have actually been exported, at prices which have given a high comparative value. If the growing crop is less it may be considered fortunate at this juncture, since it gives greater impulse to those vast enterprises for irrigation, which by ensuring regular crops hereafter will promote the settlement of lands, laid open by railroads, which offer the largest profits to agriculturists. To recount all the favorable aspects which our agricultural tables present would require too much space. The table of imports by railroad, as compared with that given for the same period last year, and which most of our readers have preserved, indicates the kind of articles which have found their way here by that route, for instance, 15,448 pkgs of butter, against none last year; 24,451 pkgs of candles against 25,625 boxes, against 724 boxes last year, and 8,350 half boxes, against 62,473 boxes and 17,882 half boxes by sea, but successful local factories will soon close that account altogether. Boots and shoes now come nearly all by that route, and the time is approaching when they will not come at all.

DOES ICE RELIEVE THIRST?—Ice not only melts but it dissolves. A lump of ice placed on the table will melt—placed in water it dissolves, just as sugar or salt does. When we place sugar or salt in our mouths, the glands fill our mouths with saliva, dissolve the sugar or salt and wash it down our throats in a state of solution. The amount of saliva in the glands is comparatively small, and is rapidly exhausted, leaving the mouth dry and creating a desire for drink to moisten the mouth, though the body may be actually surcharged with moisture. Ice has precisely the same effect. It compels the glands to discharge their saliva to dissolve the ice, and leaves them dry and clamorous for more water. Every boy or girl knows the apparently insatiable thirst created by eating snow, the snow penetrating rapidly the entire mouth, and drying up the glands as with a sponge. In the same way at every ice cream saloon a glass of water is handed with the cream, and many persons drink two or three glasses of water after eating an ice. For this reason the practice of giving ice, especially to the sick, is highly objectionable, and even for well persons fails of its object. We need a great deal of water to keep our skin supplied with moisture. The object of the moisture is to keep the skin cool. The cooler the moisture we drink the less will we require. But ice will make us drink more than we need to produce the desired coolness.

TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT

And for this reason: It is an exact counterpart of one of the most valuable natural medicines in the world. We refer to the great Seltzer Spring of Germany, to which thousands of the dyspeptic, the Bilious, the rheumatic, and the victims of renal diseases resort annually, and return to their homes convalescent or cured. The Aperient is one of the first and by far the most successful of all the efforts made to reproduce, in a portable form, the popular mineral waters of Europe.
